If a Vehicle is not sold by the Maximum Entry Limit the Seller must notify the Auctioneer it would like to enter the Vehicle in further Auctions to achieve a sale, and the Auctioneer shall have the option (at its sole discretion) to accept or reject the Sellers request. 9. If the Buyer is a Consumer, under the CCRs you have the following cancellation rights in respect of on-line services provided by the Auctioneer or Seller (referred to as the relevant party in this clause):

You have the right to cancel a service within 14 days without giving any reason.

The cancellation period will expire after 14 days from the earlier of the day you sign up for or purchase the services. To exercise the right to cancel, you must inform the relevant party of your decision to cancel the service by a clear statement (e.g. a letter sent by post or e-mail).

To meet the cancellation deadline, it is sufficient for you to send your communication concerning your exercise of the right to cancel before the cancellation period has expired.

If you cancel a service, the relevant party will reimburse to you the value of the payment for the cancelled services received from you, subject to the sentence below.

The relevant party may make a deduction from the reimbursement to cover the cost of any services or part of the services already provided to you.

The relevant party will make the reimbursement without undue delay, and not later than 14 days after receiving valid notice of your cancellation.

The relevant party will make the reimbursement using the same means of payment as you used for the initial transaction.

The Contract for Sale shall contain all the relevant information about the identity and contact details and other contractual provisions between the Seller and the Buyer.
